Applications for tickets to both the Yale-Harvard and Yale-Princeton games must be in Nov. 1 and 3 respectively. Alumni and undergraduates will be given three tickets each for the Yale-Princeton game.

ENDORSES MR. POTTLE.

The Bangor Commercial editorially endorses Hon. George Pottle of the state board of assessors, and argues that he should be appointed for another term. Among other things the Commercial says: "A man without a practical knowledge of taxation would be out of place on the board of assessors as a bull in a china shop and this selection is one that must be made with care. The Democratic party if it is to retain the confidence of the public, must put forth its best men for the important State offices and there is none more important than the chairmanship of the board of assessors. Mr. Pottle is eminently fitted by study, ability and long experience, and we are of the opinion that the arguments presented against his continuance in the position are factually the desire to advance some other candidate."

IT IS A TOWER OF STRENGTH.

Comment is frequently heard on the splendid business organization possessed by the Washburn-Crosby Co. In this connection, the action of the company at the annual meeting on Sept. 19, in adding eight new members to the board of directors, young men for years actively identified with the business, has special significance. Having fully demonstrated their ability in various capacities, they are now given substantial recognition officially. In the action can be seen the master mind of President James S. Bell, whose creed is to place large responsibility upon young men who have made good. Additional to the former directors, consisting of J. S. Bell, W. H. Woodbury, John Washburn, Samuel Bell, Jr., John Crosby, C. C. Bovey, and F. G. Atkinson, the new ones are James Ford Bell, William H. Bovey, Benjamin S. Bull, William G. Crocker, Franklin M. Crosby, Guy A. Thomas—all of Minneapolis; Frank F. Henry, Buffalo, and T. C. Estee, New York City.

The Covered Bridge

Tell the fainting soul in the weary form, There's a world of the purest bliss, That is linked as that soil and form are linked, By a covered bridge with this.

Yet to reach that realm on the other shore, We must pass through a transient gloom, And must walk unseen, unhelped and alone, Through that covered bridge—the tomb.

But we all pass over on equal terms, For the universal toll Is the outer garb, which the hand of God Has hung around the soul.

Though the eye is dim, and the bridge is dark, And the river it spans is wide, Yet Faith points through to a shining mount That looks on the other side.

To enable our feet, in the next day's march, To climb up that golden ridge, We must all lie down for one night's rest Inside of the covered bridge.

—David Barker.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, September 30, 1910.
I, the undersigned, being the publisher of the Rockland Courier-Gazette, do hereby certify that on the 30th day of September, 1910, there was printed a total of 2,837 copies before me:

J. W. CROCKETT,
Notary Public.

It may be that the other shipbuilding firms are indifferent about making records during their standardization trials on the Rockland course, but the fact remains that the Maine product, which comes here from the Bath yard, always does better than its competitors. The Bath Iron Works has produced the fastest battleship of the oil-burning class and the fastest destroyer of the coal-burning class. The Drayton's performance Tuesday was not equal to the Paulding's, but both were built at Bath and both are in advance of the speed shown by any other destroyers. It is a pity that Rockland cannot have an industry like the Bath Iron Works, but meantime we will continue to feel a thrill of pride at every new honor that comes to our neighbor city.

Evidently the fact that Tuesday was Columbus Day was not "discovered" in Rockland. This city takes as shyly to new holidays as Massachusetts Democrats do to gubernatorial candidates.

POLITICAL SHORT NOTES

Obadiah Gardner of Rockland was in Bangor Tuesday looking for support of his senatorial candidacy. Political gossip started a story to the effect that the great granger had secured pledges from half the Penobscot delegation, but the wise men of the Democratic party grinned and said they guessed not. Hon. Charles F. Johnson was also in town—Bangor News.

Congressman Samuel W. McCall was renominated for a tenth term at the eighth Massachusetts district Republican convention in Somerville, Wednesday by acclamation. In a speech of acceptance Congressman McCall stated that he was not pledged to vote for or against any particular candidate for speaker of the House. He praised the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

We have heard so much about a Democratic wave sweeping over the country that the result of the New York Herald's biennial canvass was not cause much of a shock.

In the last Congress the Republicans had a majority of 43 in the lower branch. The figures of the Herald, and they have generally proven reliable in the past, indicate that this majority will be wiped out. The Herald canvass indicates the 132 districts are safely Republican and 141 safely Democratic and places the remaining 118 districts in the doubtful column. Most of the latter districts are those in which the majorities at the last elections were less than 5,000. From these districts designated as doubtful 82 Republicans and 26 Democrats were returned two years ago. Thus the Republicans to maintain the control of the House must carry 64 of these doubtful districts, according to the returns gathered by the Herald.

ITS FIRST VICTIM

Infantile Paralysis Causes Death of Guy C. Sylvester.—Particularly Sad Case.

Infantile paralysis claimed its first local victim Wednesday morning in the death of Guy C. Sylvester, which took place at his home on Grace street after a short illness. Owing to the infectious nature of the disease the interment was made immediately, and without funeral services.

Deceased was a native of Rockport. Our correspondent in that town furnishes the following obituary.

The remains of Guy C. Sylvester were brought here Wednesday forenoon and interred in the family lot, Amherst Hill cemetery. He was 28 years of age and was born in Rockport where the early part of his life was spent and where he is remembered by a large circle of friends. The cause of his death was infantile paralysis with which he was stricken only a week ago. He leaves a wife who was formerly Miss Olive Mariner of this town, and two small children, the youngest only two weeks old. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. He is also survived by his father Allen Sylvester, of Rockland, three sisters, Mrs. Noble Huntley of Camden, Mrs. Edgar C. Davis and Miss Mildred Sylvester of Rockland, and one brother, Frederick H. Sylvester of Dorchester, Mass. Deceased was an industrious and highly respected young man and had been in the employ of the John Bird Co. for a number of years. He was a member of the Methodist church of Rockland.

DEATH INCREASES ANXIETY

The first death in this city from infantile paralysis has served to greatly increase the alarm of which was felt here when it became known that the dreaded disease had made its appearance in Rockland.

Infantile paralysis has been prevalent in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and other parts of the country and in order to prevent an epidemic here, the Board of Health is anxious to get a line on the situation. A bulletin of the State Board of Health says of the disease:—

"The same precautionary measures which are required for diphtheria should be put in force when cases of infantile paralysis appear—isolation, disinfection, etc. Local boards can do this under the authority conferred in Chapter 18, Section 30, Paragraph III. Ordinarily the head of the family may be allowed to attend to his work, observing proper precautions, but some observations the transmission of infection at a late stage of the disease seem to justify the prolongation of the period of isolation of the sick and those who have been sick to at least three or four weeks."

There are two reasons for the present intensified interest in infantile paralysis. It has shown a tendency in so many places within the last few years to assume the proportions of an epidemic. It is a disease which is followed by such grave results—a mortality rate which of itself is serious enough, and a large percentage of victims who are left crippled and deformed.

In Rhode Island up to Oct. 17, there had been 194 cases this year, 22 of which proved fatal. In Providence alone there have been 86 cases.

COMMENDS CIVIC LEAGUE

How Baptist Convention Would Regulate Liquor Traffic.—Its Views On Other Moral Issues.

At the recent session of the Baptist state convention the following report was presented by the committee on reform and adopted:

For more than half a century the liquor traffic has been outlawed in the State of Maine. Today we have a movement backed by the liquor interests of the entire country to overthrow Prohibition and to bring upon our State the cause of the legalized saloon. We pledge ourselves to do all that is in our power in opposition to this movement. We urge the voters of Maine not to be deceived by the specious plea of the saloon sympathizers that we need measures to enable communities to regulate the liquor traffic.

We believe the only right way to regulate the liquor traffic is to exterminate it. Over against the falsehood put forth by the saloon and its allies that prohibition does not prohibit we place the fact established by experience that prohibition does prohibit. When officials are moral, awards or when they are in the pay of the higher interests we cannot expect enforcement.

We recommend in the event of re-submission that the state be thoroughly organized by the appointment of committees in every city and town and if need be in every school district to see that the largest possible vote be polled against the repeal of the prohibitory amendment.

We heartily commend the work of the Christian Civic League, not only in the line of temperance but in forwarding other moral reforms as well.

We desire again to enter our protest against the granting of divorces with the right of marriage for other causes than the one specified by our Lord. We do not recognize the right of human beings to legislate in judgment upon the teachings of Jesus Christ.

We express the earnest hope that no Baptist minister will lend his sanction to the union in so called marriage of those whom the Lord has declared forever to be one.

We regard it as the duty of all Christians to strive by precept and example to guard the sanctity of the Lord's Day. We recommend that an effort be made to secure legislation that shall prevent railroad or express companies from lowering their fares on Sundays and thus bribing people to desecrate the Lord's Day. In this convention we desire to commend the work of the Lord's Day League of New England and to express our appreciation of the services rendered by its secretary Dr. Kneeland to the cause in the State of Maine.

The report was followed by a spirited temperance address by Rev. C. E. Owen, D. D., representing the Christian Civic League. He said in opening that in this question four classes were to be dealt with: Those who positively want the liquor traffic abolished; those who positively want the liquor traffic regulated by license and local option; those who don't care and the liquor dealers. The first class, he declared, want prohibition because they believe it to be right and that under the State would be a safer, saner and more prosperous State. They also want it for the sake of the great prohibition wave that is sweeping over the country, for they feel that for Maine to take a backward step when Representatives will go to Washington from the South that favor prohibition would be a backward step that would greatly injure the cause of temperance.

The second class want the traffic regulated because they want better liquor for our men and boys to drink, so they say. They want respectable places to drink it in instead of dens. They would have our men and boys drink liquor in peace and comfort and good men do as good a liquor business as possible, that shall be as decent and respectable as preaching or farming, and they would have the saloon men to help pay our taxes.

The third class don't care. They are indifferent and it is this class that we want to win over to the cause which the first class is confident is right. There is danger that so many of this third class will unite with the second and fourth classes when the contest comes as to make the result close. And right here you want to remember that this contest will take place before the Maine Baptist Missionary Convention holds its next annual meeting. The election upon which this question is to be voted upon if the Legislature determines to resubmit, will be held in September 1911, not in September 1912.

The liquor dealers, the brewers, distillers, wholesalers and retailers of the whole country desire protection for the liquor traffic because it gives them advantages. The law will help them collect their bills and show their goods and give them a legal status, social standing and political power.

Hon. George D. Bisbee of Rumford Falls, speaking briefly following Mr. Owen, said that if results were to be accomplished in voting to retain our prohibitory amendment we wanted to begin at once and talk it up. "I have never been afraid of resubmission," continued Mr. Bisbee. "Too many temperance people have been afraid of it. If we had resubmitted the prohibitory amendment four years ago I believe we could have kept our opponents without half trying."

DRAYTON IS ALSO FAST

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Sustains Bath Iron Works' Reputation for Building Speedy Naval Craft.

The torpedo boat destroyer Drayton made a mile over the Rockland trial course Tuesday at the rate of 33.4 knots an hour, developing horsepower close to 19,000.

Although her speed is half a knot less than that achieved by her sister ship, the Paulding, on standardization, it is still considerably in excess of anything shown by destroyers of the oil-burning class that were built in other yards. The Terry made her fastest mile at 32.18 knots speed, the Roe at 32 knots and the Perkins at 31.84.

A stiff breeze was blowing when the Drayton went on the course and there was a strong current. The craft was put through the paces at gradually increasing rates of speed, until the supreme test came with five high speed runs at the following rates: 32.15, 33.16, 33.11, 33.44 and 32.36. The mean revolutions of the screws per minute during those fast runs were 927.47 and the mean horsepower was 18,750.

The test showed that the Drayton would be able to attain the contract speed of 29.5 knots an hour when her screws are turned at the rate of about 763 times per minute.

The navigating officer in charge of the trial was Capt. Charles W. Dingley of Bath and the engines were under the charge of Chief Engineer C. P. Wetherbee. John S. Hyde, president of the Bath Iron Works, was on board and at the end of the trial expressed his complete satisfaction over the manner in which things had gone. The board of inspection and survey, which has charge of the Drayton's trials, is composed of Rear Admiral Chauncey Thomas, president, Commander C. F. Hughes, recorder, Capt. T. Snowden, Commander W. S. Smith and Naval Constructor Robert Stocker.

This is the last series of trials under Rear Admiral Thomas' direction, as he has been ordered to the command of the Pacific fleet. He leaves Washington next week to hoist his flag on the armored cruiser California. The Drayton will be ready for delivery to the government during the present month. Lieut. Commander H. C. Dinger, who is to command the destroyer, was on board during Tuesday's trials. He is a native of Wisconsin and entered the service in 1894.

C. E. Rising & Son have taken the agency of the Cadillac automobile and at their garage have a car of 1911 model on exhibition. It is a beauty! The Cadillac is one of the standard cars for the country over. Larger, more horsepower, easier riding and least expensive are some of the claims made for the 1911 model. More mileage per gallon of gas is another clinching argument.

ROCKLAND THEATRE—COLONIAL STOCK COMPANY.

The Colonial Stock Company will open a week's engagement commencing Monday, Oct. 17, at the Rockland Theatre, presenting St. Elmo, one of the few American novels of a generation ago that has stood the test of time and still retained its popularity. The Colonial Stock Company needs no introduction to Rockland theatre patrons; it is the opinion of both press and public one of the strongest popular priced companies on the road, the plays presented include St. Elmo, the Man from Kokomo, East Lynne, the Belle of Antioch, the Devil, Monte Christo, and Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. In addition to this strong list of plays the company carries several specialties which will be introduced between the acts. Ladies tickets for Monday night 15 cents, if purchased before 5 p. m. Seats now on sale for the entire engagement.

You are not experimenting on yourself when you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold as that preparation has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. It is equally valuable for adults and children and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drug. Sold by Norcross Drug Stores, and W. H. Kittredge, Druggist.

The Eastern Star Sewing Circle will meet next Tuesday with Mrs. Veazie, 35 Orange street.

Time to be thinking about the winter banking, double windows, flannels and other delights of the frigid season.

The new commercial course at the High school is proving very popular, and Superintendent Stuart states that excellent progress is being made.

Ralph E. Kallach has bought the Kallach homestead at 54 Willow street, formerly occupied by George L. Stiles, who has moved to Massachusetts.

The Rockland High school Juniors are in the throes of selecting class pins. Sleepless nights, lack of appetite and a general grouch are the symptoms.

Rev. E. S. Ufford has been invited to deliver his popular address "Man Overboard" at Good Will Farm next Wednesday. The lecture is illustrated with life-saving apparatus, which is a particularly interesting feature for the boys.

Joseph Peterson has resumed his duties as head clerk for the Norcross Drug Co., corner store, after a fortnight's vacation, part of which was spent at his home in Castine. Bert Cookley is now having his vacation at that store.

Phil Thomas, the Brook fish-dealer, has extended his field of operations by purchasing a power boat from Justin Cross. The craft is equipped with a Lozier 3 h. p. engine, and if necessary rowed. It has become a boat on the vasty deep in pursuit of seafood.

The Methodist Brotherhood meets Monday evening, with supper at 6.30. Hon. Joseph E. Moore of Thomaston will deliver his lecture on "Witchcraft," which found so much favor when delivered before the 12mo Club in this city and Thomaston organizations.

The first meeting of the Knox Club (season 1910-1911) will be at 290 Huntington avenue Boston, Tuesday evening, Oct. 18. "Further announcement at this time seems superfluous, for this short paragraph recalls the very recent parties of last season and surely you will be glad to resume them," says W. J. Henry, Secretary pro tem.

Oscar Thornton of Willow street, a brass moulder employed by the Camden Anchor-Rockland Machine Co. in their foundry on Sea street, was burned on both feet Thursday, by the overturning of a ladle containing some 150 pounds of molten metal. He was taken to his home on Willow street by Ralph Richards and his wounds were dressed by Dr. Wassant.

The Freshman class of the University of Maine Law School, of which Carl Blackington is a member, is receiving all kinds of attention, according to the Bangor newspapers. Monday night the students were entertained at the Pondich Exchange by the Phi Delta Phi fraternity. Tuesday night they were given a banquet at the Bangor House by the Phi Alpha Delta fraternity. Speeches were made and it is fair to assume that the Rockland member was not altogether absent.

Harold F. Winn, who has been serving as railway mail clerk on the Rockland-Brunswick run during the summer, has received a permanent appointment on the Kingfield-Farmington run, with headquarters at Phillips. Dennis J. Maloney, who was his assistant on the local run, will work at his trade as moulder in Portland during the winter. Messrs. Winn and Maloney have figured prominently on the Post Office baseball team the past summer, and in departing for new fields leave many friends behind.

Big crowds of Knox county pleasure-seekers have attended Topsham fair this week and have been eye-witnesses of some of the collisions, fights and other sensations with which the Sagadahoc county organization entertained its many guests. One of the severest of the accidents was that which befell W. E. Perry of Union, the well known horseman and driver. The event is described in a Topsham despatch as follows: "In the second race, a horse owned by Harry Leclair was tangled in his harness just before rounding into the stretch. May Wanda, Maine Pointer, Matthew Vassar and Emily Gail, who were following, piled up in a heap, making one of the worst mixups ever seen on the track. Howard Smith of Augusta, driver of Maine Pointer, was badly shaken up, but was able to go on the next heat. W. E. Perry of Union, the driver of Emily Gail, was thrown heavily, striking on his head. He was unconscious several hours." Those who attended the fair Wednesday found other causes for shivering. It being one of the coldest and rawest days that the Topsham fair has been up against in all its varied experience.

The 14th annual Maine Music Festival at Bangor and Portland has passed into history with a most honorable record as compared with the seasons that have preceded it. The Rockland chorus and patroness, as usual were connected with the Portland end of the festival, our city being well represented in both instances. Mr. Chapman fulfilled every promise in respect of the high character of the artists, and particularly in the orchestra, brought from New York Metropolitan Opera House, which was the star feature, arousing the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm by its magnificent performances. Among the stars Madame Rappold alone with the greatest brilliancy, receiving honors hitherto paid to only the greatest singers. The Rockland chorus and its leader, Mr. Burpee, received particular notice at the hands of Mr. Chapman. "Rockland is the only city," he said "that musically and financially has met all its obligations to the festival." Plans are already made for the 15th festival in which it is intended that Nordica, Eames and Farrar will sing, a star each night.

Mayor McLean and Arthur P. Haines are in a position to dispute the claims of Tom Coakley and Tom Foley as to being high liners in bird shooting this fall. The Foley-Coakley combination bagged 10 woodcock and one partridge, while the mayor and his partner shot five partridges and six woodcock. A paper was read by Dr. Salley of Skowhegan on "Rheumatism," and another was delivered by Dr. Stevens of Rockland on the needs of the profession. Both were ably written and well discussed afterwards. President Joly gave an address on milk inspection. A committee composed of Drs. Salley, Blakely and Joly was appointed to consider the annual banquet to be held at Augusta house, Augusta, during January.

Dr. C. F. French returned Thursday from a trip to the Wopahall fair and Waterville. The Maine Medical Association was in session in the latter place Wednesday, at which Dr. French was elected a member. While in Waterville he was the guest of City Marshal Chas. M. Richardson who is also sheriff-elect of Kennebec county. Mr. French speaks in high terms of the manner in which he was entertained, a portion of the program being an auto tour of the city and suburbs. Mr. Richardson employs a large force in his wholesale and retail cigar business, which is the most prosperous of the kind in Waterville--a fact which will interest his many Rockland friends.

The Universalist Sunday school is short of at least 25 copies of "A Book of Song and Service," which it uses every Sunday. They have been taken home for practice, and now the school is crippled through lack of them. They should be returned at once to the church on Sunday, or to U. G. Turner, at Hewitt's any day.

F. W. Bessey of Union rightfully thinks he is entitled to some distinction when it comes to raising large sunflowers. His garden produced one this fall which measured 16 inches in diameter and 50 1/2 inches in circumference. The stock on which it grew was 10 1/2 feet in height. It was a mammoth blossom in a colony of sunflowers of great variety and beauty, raised from imported seed.

6759 Child's Single Breasted Coat, 4 to 8 years.

CHILD'S SINGLE-BREASTED COAT

The coat that is made with a panel effect is a novelty of the season. This one shows that feature, and is altogether smart, while quite simple and childish in effect. It will be found appropriate for all seasonable materials. Venetian Blue, for example, makes this one and is finished with stitching, but rough finished mixtures are in vogue, and velvet and velveteen will be worn throughout the cold weather. The plain back is altogether becoming to childish figures, and the panel effect is as pretty as it is new.

The coat is made with fronts, side-fronts, back and side-backs. The fronts and the back are extended to be overlapped at the under-arms, while the side portions are cut off to produce the panel effect. The collar and fronts are faced and rolled over to form the lapels. The sleeves are made in regulation style with upper and under portions and are finished with cuffs.

The quantity of material required for the six year size is 2 1/2 yards 24 or 27, 1 1/2 yards 44 or 1 1/2 yards 52 inches wide.

GRAY SQUIRRELS INCREASING

Many Complaints to That Effect in Various Parts of This State.

It would appear, judging by the complaints which have been received by the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game during the past month, that there has been a sudden increase in the number of gray squirrels in this State, or that they are unusually active this fall.

Following is a sample of the letters the Commissioner has received:

"Dexter, Me., Sept. 7, 1910. Chairman of Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game: The gray squirrels are destroying a great deal of my corn, as well as the corn which others living around Dexter have, and I am writing to ask if the State pays for anything destroyed by gray squirrels, or if there is any law which allows a man to protect his crops against them."

"They are getting very thick around here. While I was in my corn field a few days ago I saw five large ones on the fence and each had an ear of corn."

These complaints come from the central and southern counties—from Penobscot to York—Oxford, Androscoggin and Kennebec.

The Commissioners have written all complainants that there is no law authorizing them to reimburse farmers for damage done their crops by gray squirrels.

In view of the fact that there is a perpetual close time on these squirrels all over the State, the Commissioners have explained to all these parties that in their opinion they are not obliged to see their property destroyed by any wild bird or animal; that they would be justified in killing any such bird or animal, even though it might be close time for the same, which was doing actual, substantial damage to his property, but the damage must be real, substantial, not merely imaginary; one could not plead damage to property as an excuse for taking such action, he must be able to show sufficient substantial damage in order to be protected.

In this connection it has been suggested that an open season be placed on gray squirrels, for the same period as the open season on partridge.

In nearly all states, except Maine, where gray squirrels are found an open season is provided on them, as they are much sought as game.

Seven Minute Sermon On the Golden Text

By Our Own Preacher

(Copyright, 1910, by E. S. Davidson.)
Oct. 16th, 1910.

Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me. Matt. xxv: 40.

I. The Surprise of the Judgment Day. The words of the text form, prophetically, a part of the proceedings of the world's greatest drama—the Judgment day. The sentence then pronounced by the King is a great surprise, both to the bad and the good. When the wicked heard their doom it was no surprise to them, but the basis of the judgment, or the justification of the sentence, made them open their eyes wide with astonishment. The King condemns them for being cruel in seeing Him hungry, naked, sick, a stranger and in prison, and not ministering to Him. When they deny the accusation, He tells them that being cruel, as they have been, to the least of men, is the same as being cruel to Himself. The righteous are rewarded because, when they saw Him in the same sad circumstances, they came to His relief. When these could not remember rendering the help for which He gave them credit, He told them that having ministered to His brethren was the same as doing it to Himself. That the service of God consists exclusively in doing good to man, will be the surprise of the Judgment day.

II. God's Ground of Approbation. It is superfluous to think that God expects any service from us excepting as it is rendered to Him through service to our fellow men. God is never sick, nor sad, never tired, nor weary, nor hungry, never a stranger, never in prison, has no debts, has no fear of the future, has no craving for human sympathy, is never homeless—only as He makes common cause with men, women, and children, who constantly suffer these and a thousand similar woes, all public or private worship, which is not grounded in service to our fellows is an insult to God. "Wilt thou call this a fast and an acceptable day to the Lord? Is not this the fast that I have chosen . . . that ye break every yoke? Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house?" Supreme worship of God, in the "holy of holies," the "sacrifice of a sweet smelling savor," the adoration which makes all heaven agog with rapturous song, is in doing good "to the least of these my brethren."

III. The Essence of a Christian's Duty. God has given us, not only ten, but ten thousand commandments. They are everywhere; in the Bible, in nature, in our bodies, spirits, souls; they touch us at every point of contact with the inner and outer world, but they are all codified, expressed and summarized in the one word "love." And what is love? Is it not one life-long act of devotion to our fellows? This means the true worship of God. The Good Samaritan, on the way from Jerusalem to Jericho, who bound up the wounds of the man which fell among thieves, carrying him to the hotel and ministering to his needs, was the embodiment of love. He also, by the same acts, bound up the wounds of God, pouring into them the oil and the wine.

IV. Our Brotherhood With Jesus and Other Men. The Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man is the essence of the text. Jesus is the Son of man—the Son of God, and that makes Him our brother, and us the brothers of all mankind. We each came out of the heart of God as Jesus Christ did. We are drops of the same eternal ocean. Just as the sparks are of the same fire, and a part of the steel from which they are smelted, so we each, and all, came from the Infinite. We have the nature of our Father in common with Jesus our elder Brother. "God that made the world and all that dwell therein . . . hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth." Not only are we the brothers of the Anglo-Saxon race but of all mankind, and the way we treat, "the least of these," is the gauge with which God measures our love and loyalty to Him. The King on the Judgment seat on that great day will not enquire whether or not we have been converted and are members of churches, not even if we pray or have family worship; His sole ground of approval or condemnation will be what we have done for "the least of these my brethren." Our attitude to the poor, the outcast, the sick and the sorrowing; the Indian, the Negro, the Chinese; and to other foreigners in our midst; our interest in the salvation of sinners, and in the missionary cause, will be the test of our fitness to dwell in the city of eternal glory, "the land of pure delight where saints immortal reign," or of our kinship with the cruel, and the murderers of Jesus Christ.

V. Jesus is Our Elder Brother. We all have royal blood in our veins. We are kings and priests unto God. We are of the same family and lineage as the greatest man that ever lived. Jesus will on that day, before the assembled nations, own us, the "least" of us, as His brethren. He who hurts us, injures Jesus, and he who helps us makes glad the heart of God. To recognize this relationship to Jesus is to realize the dignity of our calling.

A Fish With Teeth on His Tongue.

The biggest of fresh water fishes, the "rapahana" of the Amazon, in South America, which grows to six feet in length, has teeth on its tongue so that the latter resembles the file and is used as such. Some kinds of trout also have the same peculiarity. Fishes that swallow their prey entire have their teeth so supported on flexible bones as to bend backward, but not forward, in order that their victims shall not escape after they have been once seized. In ages gone by there were ferocious sharks, seventy feet in length, such as would make a mouthful of you without blinking. Plenty of their teeth have been found which are five inches long, whereas the biggest of the teeth belonging to sharks that exist at the present day are one and a half inches long. Speaking of extinct creatures reminds us that all of the early birds—those of early geological times, that is—had teeth, with which they captured the early worms of the same period. Being descendant from reptiles it is natural that they should possess a dental equipment, but when they ceased to be carnivorous they had no teeth any longer.

Sons of Veterans Have Had About All They Want of the National Organization.

Members of Anderson Camp, Sons of Veterans, are much interested in the withdrawal of the Maine Division from the National body and the forming of an independent organization. A meeting was held in Brunswick, Nov. 2. The delegates from Anderson Camp will be sent with instructions to use their judgment after looking the ground over, upon arrival in Brunswick, and the camp has agreed to abide by their decision.

The chief thing to be considered at that session, will be whether "the Division of Maine shall surrender its charter as a division in the Sons of Veterans, U. S. A., and establish an independent organization." In the second place, the delegates will see "what action shall be taken regarding the lease or purchase of Camp Benson at Newport, Me."

A Rockland member who is prominent in the order, said, Wednesday: "We have been thinking of this question for some time, but has always been put off when we met in our encampments. I understand that there are one or two divisions in western states which have withdrawn and are independent and a lot of others are discussing it."

"You see one of our grievances is this. We are taxed 72 cents per member and a half of this, 36 cents, goes to the national body. Now you can see that if every member in Maine paid that sum to an organization of its own, it would take care of the interest on a home for our members. One of the organizations of veterans owns Camp Benson and we would like to lease or buy it to make a state home out of it. Then we could send our sick members there for a summer's outing and we could also hold various gatherings at the camp. Yes, I approve of the plan, take everything together."

Something Entirely New

IN HOUSE DRESSES

Famous DOUBLE-SERVICE Garments

WE are now making a special display of these Garments, and believe every one of our customers will be interested in seeing them. The many special features make these garments an improvement over "old style" house dresses.

No Buttons or Hooks and Eyes

Two large Snaps on the belt—as shown above—hold entire garment in place. Under this arrangement the garment is adjusted to three different sizes.

Easy to Put On

Without a doubt the easiest and quickest to put on of any House Dress made. On and off like a coat—no pulling over the head or stepping out of the skirt.

Made "Princess" with Pocket and Two Reversible Fronts

The "Princess" design gives the garment an exceptionally neat and tidy appearance. The pocket is a great convenience. The Two Reversible Fronts give Double Service both as to wear and soil.

Very Easy to Launder

Another good feature is the ease with which this garment may be washed and ironed. The entire garment opens out flat with no buttons or "trills" to bother. An important point.

A Special Feature—Found only in the Double-Service Garments To change the Waist Line on these garments raise or lower the belt a trifle, a very simple operation. By moving the belt the garments may be made to fit, perfectly, either short, medium or long waisted persons.

This Garment May Be Used as a Dress, Kimono or Apron

The Double-Service Dresses are adaptable to several uses. AS A DRESS the garments are COMPLETE, really a 4-in-1 dress, comprising Skirt, Waist and 2 Aprons. Made with Low Collars and Square Necks. AS A KIMONO the garment has many special features not found in the ordinary kimono. AS AN APRON the Double-Service Garment gives PERFECT PROTECTION to any valuable clothing worn underneath it. The Double-Service Garment is a COMPLETE DRESS (it is not an apron) but it has the additional advantage that it may be used like a big apron for protection. Double-Service Garments are made on a Quality Basis—the best of material and workmanship entering into their manufacture. These New Style House Dresses are cheaper—in the end—than old style wrappers. Every woman is interested in the New Ideas in wearing apparel, therefore: Be sure and see these garments while the special representative is with us.

AT THE POINT OF SHEARS

A Thrilling Main Street Episode in Which a Spanish War Veteran Played the Leading Part.

A young man who is connected with a prosperous Main street business concern had an adventure Tuesday night that was rather more trying than anything he experienced while at Chickamauga during the Spanish war.

Lateness of the hour, and the solitude of the occasion, broken only by the activity and audacity of rats, had conspired to give him a case of "nerves," when suddenly there came a crash in the basement that sounded as if a brick block had collapsed. The young man's hair stood right up on tiptoe, but he responded to the occasion. Seizing a large pair of shears, and discarding a pair of similarly dimensioned shoes, he began his descent of the basement stairs.

He could hear mumbling from the reached the bottom and was quite certain that he had stumbled upon a pair of clumsy burglars. The rays of an electric light in the office above finally revealed the form of a man who appeared to be in a crouching attitude.

"Hands up!" shouted the young man, and he levelled the desk shears in the approved style of a moving picture desperado.

The man responded without argument for the rays of the electric light cast a glint on the blades of the shears, and the supposed burglar was willing to take it for granted that he was gazing into the barrel of a colt's revolver.

"March up those stairs!" commanded the merciless captor, and the "burglar" marched, but with an unsteady gait that let the cat out of the bag as to his actual condition.

The procession did not halt until it had passed through the office entrance and onto the street, much to the astonishment of two belated pedestrians. The hero of the occasion asked them to fetch the police. But when they got a glimpse of the pedestrian they recognized a well known resident of an adjoining town, and after explanations had been made he was released.

Two much joy-water had so bewildered him that he had lost his bearings, and had fallen through a pair of folding doors into a strange basement. Many will seek to learn the identity of the hero, but beyond telling them that his first name and middle initial are identical with those of a recent Presidential candidate we shall respect his modesty.

Rockland High plays in Bucksport Saturday, and the boys believe they are capable of making a much better showing than they did in the game with the Seminary team on the Broadway grounds two weeks ago. The team will run an excursion on Steamer May Archer leaving Tillson wharf at 9 a. m.—not 7 a. m., as the types made us say in Tuesday's issue.

The American League season ended with teams in the following order: Philadelphia (champions) New York, Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, Washington and St. Louis. The National League season closes Saturday.

Just think of Portland, Ore., fishermen catching Portland, Me., lobsters. That is what the Pacific Coast crustacean seekers will soon be doing. Saturday a special car will pull out of Portland with 2000 lobsters on board. They are bound for Seattle where they will be planted in the waters of the great ocean that washes the western coast of America.

Half of these lobsters will be male and half female. It is hoped they will propagate and grow as successfully as they have in the waters of the Atlantic. That is what the officials of the United States fish hatchery are planning on accomplishing with Capt. E. E. Hahn himself goes with the shell fish to see that they are placed overboard in a proper manner.

It is somewhat of a proposition to transport 2000 live lobsters 2000 miles and have them arrive at their destination in good health and ready to take a dip in the briny again. Capt. Hahn thinks he has solved this problem by using a refrigerator car.

Experiments conducted at the hatchery at Boothbay have demonstrated that lobsters will live almost three weeks in the same temperature without being put in water. The aim of the officials then will be to have the refrigerator car at the same temperature all the time during the trip. Two much cold would prove just as disastrous as too much heat.

It is thought that the best results will be obtained by having the car go by way of the Northern Pacific. Once before when this experiment was tried, a car was sent over the Canadian Pacific and the weather proved so cold that some of the lobsters did not survive the trip. A more nearly even temperature is looked for over the other route.

Lobsters are not indigenous to the waters of the Pacific. They are essentially a product of the Atlantic ocean. Though they have all kinds of things growing on land out West, about the only thing of note that is taken from the water is codfish. The Pacific coast residents, many of whom came originally from the Atlantic states want a taste of lobster once in a while. Now they hope to raise them for themselves.

News of the experiment to be made by the United States fish commission will be awaited with the greatest interest. If the planing of the crustaceans proves successful and they seem to thrive then more will probably be sent West. In a few years, perhaps, there will be as many lobsters on the Pacific coast as on the Atlantic—Portland Press.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Tuesday's Bath Times had the following editorial comment: "About time for the annual report that a polo league is to be organized in Maine." If the sporting circles of the Times will look up The Courier-Gazette of same date he will see that he was correct in his surmise. Only we hope that our report concerns something more substantial than a pipe dream.

The world's record for longdistance throwing of a baseball, that has stood for 36 years, was broken Sunday at Cincinnati, when Sheldene Lefebvre of the Evansville club of the Central League, threw the sphere 426 feet, 6 1/2 inches. The record that has stood for more than a quarter of a century was made by Tom Hatfield and was 400 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Lobsters are not indigenous to the waters of the Pacific. They are essentially a product of the Atlantic ocean. Though they have all kinds of things growing on land out West, about the only thing of note that is taken from the water is codfish. The Pacific coast residents, many of whom came originally from the Atlantic states want a taste of lobster once in

Amatite Roofing

It Needs No Painting

Amatite is a ready roofing sold in convenient rolls ready to be unrolled on the roof and nailed down. No skilled labor is needed to apply it. Nails and cement are supplied free.

Amatite should be given the preference over other roofings, because,
First—it is the best looking ready roofing made.
Second—it requires no painting; hence costs nothing to maintain. Other roofings require painting every 2 years.
Third—its great weight and thickness make it very durable.

The no-paint feature is the most important. We obviate the painting by applying a mineral surface embedded under great pressure into the top layer of the composition, making a sort of flexible concrete. We send samples free. Drop a postal to our nearest office.

Carbonol—Cleans—Heals—Disinfects—Purifies

Carbonol is a powerful cleanser. It dissolves grease, and therefore will clean things which soap and water won't touch. It will remove scale, grease, and take stains off woodwork, brighten dingy rugs, clean harness, clear out grease from sink pipes, clean windows, etc.

Carbonol also kills germs and suppresses odors. It will keep flies away from garbage, suppress contagious diseases in the hen house, rid dogs of fleas, clear out musty smells in the cellar, etc.

10c., 25c. and 50c. a bottle. Sample free on request.

Barrett's Creosote Shingle Stains

Not simply a coating (like ordinary paint) but a creosote preparation which penetrates and preserves the wood. Cheaper than paint.

Shingles treated with Barrett's stain have twice the life. Any color you wish.

Creo-Carbolin—Wood Preservative

Everybody knows that it saves money to treat timber with creosote—it is to be placed in the ground. Creo-Carbolin is a creosote preparation, especially prepared so that it can be used successfully by anybody without experience. It can be applied with brush, or by tank treatment. It costs little, but it doubles the life of wood, making it proof against wet rot, dry rot, insects and fungoid growths.

Creonoid—Lice Destroyer and Cow Spray

Spray Creonoid on cattle. It won't hurt them, but the vapor will penetrate to the skin, killing all insect life. Creonoid will keep flies away from the cows. It will keep lice and nits away from the poultry, make every thing sanitary and increase their output.

Everjet Elastic Paint

This is a black, glossy paint that costs much less than ordinary paint. Everjet is better than many paints that cost twice as much. It will not crack or peel or be affected by the weather. The toughest coating made for roofings, metal work, fences, sheds, posts, etc.

STATE CHAT

Leonard & Harrows shoe factory, at Belfast, is working to its full capacity and turning out 2,000 pairs per day.

Phillip Seekins of Norridgewock is one of the smartest lads in Central Maine. He is only 12 years of age but he has done all the work on the home farm this season. He has cut about 25 tons of hay, put it in the barns, sowed eight acres of oats, several of potatoes and two of wheat besides doing considerable other work about the place. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Seekins, who reside in the rural part of the town.

Selectman W. B. Hewett of South Somerville this year raised 183½ bushels of potatoes upon one-third of an acre. The tubers were all smooth, clean and handsome. None of them were over 12 bushels that could be called unmarketable on account of size. Some of the hills yielded from 24 to 27 A No. 1 tubers. The land was in perfect condition and no fertilizer was used except ten manure. Green Mountain was the variety planted and the cuttings were placed 15 inches apart in rows 2½ feet apart.

All of the corn factories in Maine have finished their pack and have had a most excellent season. None of the farmers lost any corn by frost, and the quality this year is reported above normal. The several packers in Portland and elsewhere report that the amount packed this year will be about the same as last year. No estimate can be given as to how many hundred thousand cases were packed, but it will amount to an enormous number. Maine is the greatest corn producing state in the Union and every year many carloads are shipped to the West, but a very small amount being consumed in New England.

A report on the ore deposits of Maine and on those of the Milan mine in New Hampshire, by W. H. Emmons, geologist, has just been published by the United Geological Survey as Bulletin No. 422. The quarries of Maine are well and widely known and supply immense quantities of some especially granite for use in all parts of the country, but the ores of the state are not now extensively mined. For many years the ores of Mt. Katahdin produced 2,000 to 3,000 tons of iron a year, and in early sixties, the Lubec and other mines were worked in a small way. In the eighties several hundred tons of copper were smelted at Bluehill from ores mined at the Douglas and other mines in the neighborhood. In addition to this metallic output, about 5,000 ounces of silver have been mined at Sullivan and Barre points. The total value of the metal product of Maine except iron is probably about $400,000. The report just issued sketches the general geology of the state, describes the form, geologic relations, mineralogy, and distribution of the ore deposits, and discusses their mode of origin.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

There are too many actors to bore us,
And sure who are hard to shine;
There are too many girls in the chorus
Subsisting on lozenges and wine;
There are too many caterers and waiters,
Who call for the dizzy and dry;
Too few who are sowing, and hilling, and hoeing,
So, living—well, living is high.

There are too many thrummers and strummers
Annoying the base and the shine;
There are too many chauffeurs and loafers
Who are riding in automo-things;
There are too many schemers and dreamers
And only a few who produce;
Too many investing in stock-egg nestings,
And few who are growing the goose.

There are too many preachers and teachers
Who work the south half of their faces;
There are too many lawyers and jurists,
Whose suits are concealed in their cases;
There are too many lawyers and jayvorts
Who defend, but who cannot supply,
And they serve a subpoena upon a Martini,
And wonder why living is high.

Too many are looking for cooking,
Too many are enjoying spuds;
Too many find sinning is simpler than spinning,
And dross in delectable duds.
There is too much of dictation and notion,
And not enough of actual toil;
There are too many diggers at fictitious figures,
And not enough diggers of soil.

There are too many rhymers and chimeras
Who read and forget both at once;
There are too many gapers (like you) of the papers,
Who read and forget both at once.
Too many minding his (like you) of the vineyard,
Too many minding his (like you) of the vineyard,
And the while we inquire, "Why does living grow higher?"

The bulk of us fail to produce.
—Edmund Vance Cook in Collier's Weekly.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root.
